Road Closed Policy (for Andes Ski Experience)

The Ministry of Public Works maintains the access road to the Andes Mountains while the Ministry of Transportation manages the roads in Canada and is therefore responsible for clearing the road in the event of snowstorms. Even though some of the resorts offer support and machinery for the execution of these tasks, neither the resorts nor Four Peaks Travel is responsible for the road conditions.

In Chile, some trips will visit Valle Nevado or Portillo. When the group is unable to go down the mountain and must spend the night in the resort, the first night's accommodations will be charged at the normal rate to the Client's account. If the stay extends to a second night, a 50% discount will be applied to the normal rate. Valle Nevado offers an optional use of a helicopter transportation service that is only operable during favorable weather conditions. This service is subject to availability and the passenger is responsible to assume the cost of this service.

Services Not Covered

Additional activities may be offered by Four Peaks Travel during a trip. Client, however, will be responsible for all extra expenses incurred as a result of Client's participation in the activity. Only those activities described in the reservation form or other trip description are included in the total cost of the trip. Client will be responsible for charges issued by any airline used while on tour for any or all of the following: Excess baggage, over weight, oversize, or ski and snowboard charges. Some tours include meals and drinks, others do not. Details are indicated on our website and brochures. When meals and drinks are not included, client will be responsible for his expenses.

Price Adjustments

Four Peaks Travel reserves the right to adjust (increase or decrease) the price of a trip for up to forty-five (45) days before departure due to changes in exchange rates, increases in air fares or other transportation costs, taxes, or if government action should require us to do so. In the event the price adjustment is an increase, Four Peaks Travel will be responsible for the first 2% of the increase and Client will be responsible for the balance. If any price increase is greater than 10% of the cost of the trip, excluding insurance premiums, Client may cancel the reservation and receive a full refund within fourteen (14) days of notification of the price increase.

Changes to Itinerary

Client acknowledges that the nature of this type of travel requires considerable flexibility and changes to the itinerary may occur. Therefore, the agreed upon itinerary does not serve as a contractual obligation on the part of Four Peaks Travel. Client understands that the route, schedules, itinerary, amenities and mode of transportation may be changed without prior notice due to local circumstances or events, which may include sickness or mechanical break down, flight cancellation, strikes, events occurring due to political disputes, entry or border difficulties, climate and other unpredictable or unforeseeable circumstances.

In addition, Four Peaks Travel reserves the right to change any of the facilities, services or prices described in the brochure or web site before a reservation is made. In the event a change is made, Client will be contacted and provided information notifying him of the change prior to making the reservation. While Four Peaks Travel will make its best effort to provide its services as advertised, reasonable changes in the itinerary may be made where deemed appropriate, advisable or necessary. If Four Peaks Travel makes a major change in the trip, the client will be informed prior to departure when possible.

The definition of a major change is deemed to be a change affecting at least one day for every five of the itinerary. When a major change is made prior to departure the client has the option of accepting the change of itinerary, booking a reservation in another trip at equal value, or obtaining a full refund of all monies paid for the trip. If the major change is made due to unforeseen circumstances no compensation is payable.

Client will be permitted to make changes to the itinerary if made sixty-days (60) prior to departure. Additional costs incurred as a result of the change will be the sole responsibility of the Client. Client may transfer his reservation from one trip to another as long as the transfer is requested sixty-days (60) prior to departure. If a transfer request is made and accepted by Four Peaks Travel, then Four Peaks Travel reserves the right to charge an administration fee of ten percent (10%) of the price of the original booked reservation.
